THE FIRST-ANNUAL JDPA PUBLISHING AWARDS

We are pleased to present the first-annual JDPA Publishing Awards. The JDPA Editorial Board considered all peer-reviewed content published in 2022, nominated articles and authors, and then took a vote on awardees. Congratulations to our award recipients as well as every author who has submitted their work to JDPA and every peer reviewer and editor who has volunteered their critical eye to improve the manuscripts. Your contributions highlight the best work of dermatology PAs.

NEW PA AUTHOR OF THE YEAR AWARD
For the best work among first-time PA authors published in JDPA during a calendar year, the New PA Author of the Year Award highlights a rising star.

- Amy Jones, MPAS, PA-C, for her work on article: Overview of Statistical Concepts for Interpreting Data, Clinical Trials Results, and Meta-analysis
  JDPA Fall 2022 (Vol. 16, No. 4)

HONORABLE MENTIONS:
- Kathryn Harrison MMS, PA-C, for her work on article: Covid 19: A New Etiology for Guttate Psoriasis
  JDPA Spring 2022 (Vol. 16, No. 2)
- M. Bryn Marsh, MPAS, PA-C, for her work on article: Recognizing and Managing Isotretinoin-Induced Acne Fulminans without Systemic Symptoms
  JDPA Winter 2022 (Vol. 16, No. 1)
- Jameka McElroy-Brooklyn for her work on article: A Case Report of Successful Treatment of Acquired Reactive Perforating Collagenosis in a Patient with Skin of Color
  JDPA Winter 2022 (Vol. 16, No. 1)

MOST IMPACTFUL ARTICLE OF THE YEAR
The Most Impactful Article of the Year award is granted to an article (and its authors) that represents a substantial contribution to the PA profession and has potential applicability beyond the PA readership.

- Basics in Mental Health Screening for Suicide Risk Assessment in Dermatology
  By Catherine R. Judd, MS, PA-C, CAQ Psych, DFAAPA
  JDPA Summer 2022 (Vol. 16, No. 3)

HONORABLE MENTION:
- Climate Change, Cutaneous Disease, and the Dermatology Provider
  By Annika Belzer, BS, Misha Rosenbach, MD
  JDPA Fall 2022 (Vol. 16, No. 4)

JDPA EXCELLENCE IN PUBLISHING
JDPA’s Excellence in Publishing award is granted to an author whose work contributed to the advancement of the PA profession.

- Catherine Judd, MS, PA-C, CAQ Psych, DFAAPA

JDPA PEER REVIEWERS OF THE YEAR
This award recognizes peer reviewers whose prompt and insightful reviews helped to improve the caliber of work published in JDPA. These reviewers not only completed the most reviews in a calendar year, but their assessments were also prompt and insightful.

- Jill Conway, MPAS, MSPH, PA-C
- Savanna Perry, PA-C
- Nathan Morgan, MPAS, PA-C